KLASSEN-BERGEN
FAMILY TREE

THE KLASSEN-BERGEN FAMILY TREE

Abraham Klassen, son of Jakob Klassen and Katharina Neufeld, was born on Dec 15, 1883 in Gruenfeld, South Russia, died on Dec 30, 1973 in Rosthern, Saskatchewan at age 90, and was buried in Tiefengrund (Laird), Saskatchewan.

Abraham Klassen was the fourth child of twelve. Eight of them reached adulthood. Of these, he was the second eldest child, the eldest son. He shared very few recollections of his childhood but he remembered the fruit trees on their farm in the village of Gruenfeld, South Russia, possibly because he always enjoyed eating fruit.

When he was twenty-five years of age, in 1908, he married nineteen-year-old Anganetha Bergen. The day that Anganetha passed away, in the terrible flu epidemic of 1918, six young children were left without a mother. They ranged in age from one week to nine years of age. One-week-old Jake was left in the care of his maternal grandmother.

One year later, Abraham Klassen remarried. He was thirty-five years old. The bride was Anganetha's younger sister, Helena. She was twenty-one. Baby Jake was brought back home and Helena began her new role as the children's 'second' mother. As time passed, Abraham and Helena went on to increase the family size by an additional seven children.

We are the descendants of these two unions.
